

I think the Do Not Call rule that Indiana has is the greatest thing. If telemarketers want to get in touch with someone there is other ways then the telephone, they can use the Postal Service. Since when do telemarketers have the authority to over rule individual rights and preferences.

Michael Summerlot